The Effects of Exposure to Violent Media: What the Evidence Says

Distinguished Professor Craig A. Anderson

What are the effects of violent media exposure?

Can video game playing lead to helpful as well as hurtful acts?

What are the scientific findings?

What do parents need to know?

Distinguished Professor Craig Anderson from Iowa State University is one of the world's most eminent researchers of aggressive behaviour, and is the leading authority on the effects of violent video games.

Come and hear Prof. Anderson speak about the effects of violent media, the implications for parents and policy makers, and about the results of cutting edge research both at Macquarie University and overseas.

Monday, March 16 at 6.30 pm
